Permissions

AJEM is published as an open access publication under a [Creative Commons \[CC BY-NC\] license](#).

This allows unlimited, free and immediate access to scholarly articles and industry news and views for non-commercial purposes. Currently there are no page charges for authors.

Under this CC BY-NC 4.0 licence you are free to:

- Share — copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format
- Adapt — remix, transform, and build upon the material.

Under the following terms:

- Attribution — You must give appropriate credit, provide a link to the license, and indicate if changes were made. You may do so in any reasonable manner, but not in any way that suggests the licensor endorses you or your use.
- Non-commercial — You may not use the material for commercial purposes.
- No additional restrictions — You may not apply legal terms or technological measures that legally restrict others from doing anything the license permits.

If your intended use of content is not covered by the licence above, please submit a request with the following information by email to ajem\_editor@aidr.org.au:

- your name, title and organisation
- your complete address and contact details
- the article title, author names
- the content you would like to use (e.g. text, figure numbers)
- the type of work in which the material will be used (e.g. book, journal, newsletter)
- the title of this work
- the publishing company of this work
- retail price
- the formats in which this work will be distributed (e.g. print, electronic)
- the rights that you are seeking.

All requests will be received and responded to via email. If permission is granted, the terms and conditions and any permissions fees will be included in the email.
